Gold Medal, Great American Beer Festival, 2009

Able to leap tall buildings in a single bound (well, almost), is what makes these dogs famous, or infamous. Trinity's co-owner/brewmaster Jason Yester says, "With one straight spring into the air, they can be anywhere," whether it's jumping high into his arms to greet him or jumping through screens. Marley has even scaled six-foot fences, going from doggie door to doggie door, eating the neighborhood pet food. 🐾
